

Cromwell Police Department

Certified Officer

The Cromwell Police Department is currently accepting on-line applications from current Connecticut P.O.S.T.C. certified officers for the position of Police Officer. Applicants must be either active Connecticut P.O.S.T.C. certified police officers in good standing with their current department, have retired in good standing, or were separated from service in good standing still having a Connecticut P.O.S.T.C. police officer certification status or able to regain certification.

The successful candidate must meet all the requirements for a lateral transfer as established by P.O.S.T.C.

A list of minimum qualifications for a Cromwell Police Officer is included with this announcement.

Starting salary for experienced officers is at the discretion of the Chief of Police. Pension is covered by the Municipal Employees Retirement Fund B retirement.

Must pass a Background Investigation. Unrestricted access to the employer's records, except those with restrictions by law, must be granted by an applicant, at a mutually agreeable point in time, in order to proceed with the hiring process. The current salary range is $61,194.00-$82,950.40. The current police contract will expire on June 30, 2023 and is currently being negotiated.

Additional Examinations: Polygraph Examination, Psychological Examination, Pre-Employment Physical, and Drug Screening.

Final candidate(s) will interview with the Chief of Police.

A newly hired police officer, Connecticut POSTC certified, will qualify to receive a signing bonus of five thousand dollars ($5,000.00) when the officer has successfully completed the one (1) year probationary period, which is one (1) year from the date of hire with the Town of Cromwell.
